(the Serpent) and the Wittenberg monk-turned-reformer Martin Luther (the Lamb). Contemporaries and friends (each was godfather to the other's children), Cranach and Luther were very different Germans, yet their collaborative successes merged art and religion into a revolutionary force that became the Protestant Reformation. Steven Ozment, an internationally recognized historian of the Reformation era, reprises the lives and works of Cranach (1472-1553) and Luther (1483-1546) in this generously illustrated book. He contends that Cranach's new art and Luther's oratory released a barrage of criticism upon the Vatican, the force of which secured a new freedom of faith and pluralism of religion in the Western world. The book is about the battle between Satan (the Serpent) and Jesus Christ (the Lamb) culminating in the victory of Christ over Satan. What can human beings learn from how God uses His creatures in history to fulfill His purposes? This is done through fictional but real events/occurrences in the Bible to bring to life these events as narrated by the animals, birds and fishes. It focuses on the Bible narrative in Genesis Chapter 3 vs 15: "And I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your offspring
